Angela Little

lip service

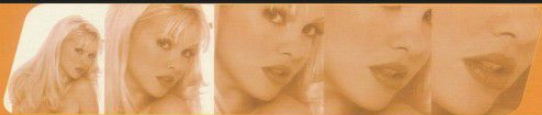

Hef calls her Baby Marilyn, and with all the work Angela Little's been getting lately she just might make as big a splash in Hollywood as the original M.M. Since moving to Los Angeles in April to focus on acting, Miss August '98 has landed a role in Oliver Stone's Any Given Sunday, played a major part in an upcoming USA telemovie and acted alongside the Who's Your Favorite? on Showtime's Ruby Winkler. We recently sat down with the bubbly, smart and insanely cute Playmate and chatted about everything from her first kiss to her favorite superhero.

What's new? I'm the new St. Pauli Girl! I'll have my own poster and video and my own Web site, www.stpauligirl.com. I'm really excited. Jaime Bergman, Miss January '99, was the last St. Pauli Girl, so it's nice to keep it in the family. Coolest people you've met in L.A.? I met Leonardo DiCaprio and Charlie Sheen at the Mansion. I had a weird run in with Charlie, but it's nothing you can print. First kiss? I was in fifth grade and it was on the playground. I kissed the boy, he didn't kiss me. It scared him to death and he ran. I was a tomboy. I wasn't afraid to go after what I wanted, and I'm still not. First sex? Oh my God [laughing]. I was 17 and it was very awkward. It's not that I'd like to forget it because I dated the guy for five years, but it was just awkward. I'm glad I got it out of the way because sex has gotten much more pleasant. Any nicknames? Spitfire. That's what Julie McCullough (PM 2-86) called me after she saw me chew out a bodyguard at the Mansion. And Hef calls me Baby Marilyn, which is very nice. Has a pick-up line ever worked? No, but I like to hear them because it's good material to talk about with my girlfriends. Heard any good ones? Too many. "Are those space pants, because your ass is out of this world?" I thought that was pretty pathetic. "Are you in any kind of pain, because it must have hurt when you were dropped from heaven?" I was taking a sip of soda at the time, and I spit it all over him. Wheels? I drive a sport utility vehicle with big tires.

When I have a boyfriend I expect him to carry condoms. No glove, no love.

Computer geek? Not me, I'm a bookworm. I have my nose in two books—Way of the Peaceful Warrior and the Tao Te Ching. I also like to read a lot of dark humor because I like to laugh. Sometimes reality just gets to be too much. Is being small with the last name Little a running joke? Oh God, yeah [laughing]. Every time I walk into an audition they say, "Oh, how appropriate." Or they ask me if I've had my name changed. A lot of times they don't see the "a" at the end of my name and they'll say, "Angel Little, you look like a little angel." And I have to say, "No, I'm Angela Little and no, I haven't had my name changed." Favorite rock band? Bare Naked Ladies. Favorite ice cream? Strawberry. Favorite superhero? Spiderman. Favorite athlete? Wayne Gretzky. Favorite drink? A watermelon martini. Favorite movie? Harold and Maude. Favorite TV show? Wild Kingdom on the Discovery Channel. Vices? No. I rarely drink, I don't smoke and I don't chew. You see, I'm from Alabama and some girls there do that. Cool talents? I play the flute and I just got a new one. My old flute got lost in the shuffle of moving. I've been playing my new one fairly frequently and I'm pretty good. What were you like in high school? I went to a small high school but I was voted into everything. I was voted cutest, best figure, biggest flirt, which I'm not very proud of, and homecoming queen. Strangest place you've ever had sex? In the bathroom at a wedding reception. What's in your purse? Ibuprofen, lip balm, my day planner, dental floss and sugar-free bubble gum. No condoms? Oh God no. I don't have a boyfriend right now, and if I did I'd expect him to carry them. Because it's no glove, no love. Marriage? That's at least five years off for me with all the work I'm doing. And besides, it would take the kind of man I've never met—funny, confident, a pretty smile and really smart. And he doesn't have to be rich, but he does have to have some goals and some drive. Do men constantly hound you? When I go out I try to dress down, with no makeup and just a baseball cap, but guys are still always trying to get my phone number. They're ego-crazed freaks, but that's Hollywood for you. Where do you want to be in five years? It would be cool to be on a sitcom by then. Acting can be so emotionally draining and it can make you really neurotic. A sitcom would give me a bit more security and structure. I like physical comedy, and it would be cool to play a quirky blonde who wears glasses and is goofy, because I love making people laugh.

Playmate Lingerie

Elvis left the building for good, and in New York City they finally nabbed the Son of Sam killer. On the big screen two American classics—Saturday Night Fever and Star Wars—rocked the box office. And on the Playmate front, Miss September 1977 and future PMOY Debra Jo Fondren captivated everyone, especially Hef, with her long luscious locks.
